PRAISE FOR A KINGDOM OF THEIR OWN

“When the Americans chased the Taliban from Kabul after the 9/11 attacks, they put all their money on one man, a little-known leader named Hamid Karzai. Fifteen years later, the American mission is veering toward collapse, and Karzai looms larger than life. Joshua Partlow traces our catastrophe with peerless skill and style. A Kingdom of Their Own is the essential book for understanding how it all went so wrong.” —DEXTER FILKINS, author of The Forever War

“Incisive, superbly written, and meticulously reported, Joshua Partlow’s A Kingdom of Their Own illuminates the war in Afghanistan through the lives of the fascinating, quarrelsome, maddening Karzai family, once the West’s hope for change in the Middle East, now a living reminder of our mistakes in the region. A riveting read.”
—RAJIV CHANDRASEKARAN, author of Imperial Life in the Emerald City

“Alive and compelling, A Kingdom of Their Own reveals how America wasted trillions of dollars in Afghanistan—the absurdity and the tragedy of it all. Joshua Partlow’s book takes on the mantle of a ‘must read’ as we search for our country’s role in the world.” —RAYMOND BONNER, author of Anatomy of Injustice

“Read this fine book and weep. I have followed Afghan events in the newspapers for thirteen years, but found surprises throughout Partlow’s vivid account. He gives us unforgettable lessons in the folly—still apparently irresistible to many Americans—of nation-building in remote countries whose cultures we do not fathom. And he writes beautifully.” —ROBERT G. KAISER, author of Act of Congress
